Reading

Attention: All Staff

Subject: Monthly Position Briefing

I would like to extend an invitation to all staff to join the management team for a short, 1-hour briefing on the emerging market situation. As you know, these briefings are extremely important as they lay out vital market information, goals, corporate strategies and individual expectations for the next quarter.

Despite ongoing challenges with population decline and a steady addition of new properties into the residential housing market, sales remain strong. In particular, we have seen prices continue to increase throughout the last three quarters. Despite this, we are seeing significant softening in the number of properties sold on a monthly basis.

We look forward to seeing you this Friday afternoon at three p.m. for the briefing. Please note that attendance is required for all managers and senior staff. Following the presentation, refreshments and light snacks will be served. Please RSVP by this Wednesday to my secretary so that we know how many to expect.
